

Activity name: DRIVERS OF CHANGE

Class: 11th and 12th

Date:21/7/23

Description:

ACTIVITY REPORT

This activity was an exhilarating experience. All students have passion in different things and very often they are not allowed to follow it, as their parents do not see an adequate future in it. But through this activity students falsified this myth. Students were able to do in-depth research about their passion and found many ways to earn their bread and butter through it. Not only that but it also helped them know something about their passion which they did not know earlier. Participating in this activity was very fruitful as now they have explored many more career options rather than the only generic ones.

Learning objectives:

1. With this activity they not only got to learn new things about their passion of self-sufficiency but also about many new career streams through the peers.
2. After making the presentation they felt confident about their ideas of entrepreneurial skill.
3. They learnt about the importance of self-sufficiency.
