As part of its yearlong initiative, the Interact Club, in collaboration with Naya Sawera Gurgaon—an NGO focused on empowering underprivileged children through education and skill development—organized its first session titled “Bonding and Inculcating Reading Habits.” The session was thoughtfully designed to promote trust, teamwork, and a love for reading.

The event began with a calming yoga session attended by Interact Club members and 20 students from Naya Sawera, encouraging relaxation and physical wellness. This was followed by a virtual library tour conducted by librarian Ms. Jyoti Sinha, who introduced students to the working of a library, including cataloging, book lending, and the process of selecting age-appropriate reading material. She also emphasized the importance of library etiquette.

The session continued with Interact members guiding the NGO students in choosing and reading storybooks, fostering engagement and literacy. The day concluded with refreshments, marking a successful and enriching experience for all participants.
